

Salona Global Medical Device (currently Brattle Street Investment Corp.) Advisors

- Michael Dalsin: Former Managing Director of Stanmore Capital Partners, a capital group focused on US healthcare company acquisitions and investments; former investment banker for Morgan Stanley Managing Directors' funds in New York and London. He has led and participated in several IPOs on exchanges in Europe, New York, Toronto, Singapore and Australia. He founded a private equity fund (Healthcare Special Opportunity Fund) listed on the TSX, where he was the largest shareholder. University of Wisconsin,
B.A. Economics
- Roger Greene: Former Managing Director and General Counsel of Stanmore Capital Partners, a capital group focused on US healthcare service company acquisitions and investments. He served as EVP and General Counsel to several well-known investment funds Lone Star Fund, Brazos and affiliates of the Robert M. Bass Group. Harvard College, B.A. Economics; Harvard Law School, J.D.

Both possess deep capital markets knowledge and experience as well as being experts in M&A in the US healthcare industry. Previous healthcare deals in a public company include durable medical equipment, sleep testing and plasma collection. Both also served as advisors to large sovereign wealth funds in Finland (STIRA) and Australia (QIC) for life sciences and healthcare.